An Urgent Special Report
from LARRY EDELSON
Editor, Real Wealth

Dear Fellow Investor,

There's no mystery to WHY the Obama administration seems to be doing everything it can think of to shrink the buying power of the U.S. dollar ...

The White House absolutely MUST HAVE a cheaper dollar to avoid defaulting on the massive $133 TRILLION in debt and entitlement obligations it has amassed.

The simple truth is, Washington doesn't have the money to make good on all the promises it has made to seniors, veterans and everyone else who counts on government checks.

The American people don't have enough money either: $133 trillion is equal to nearly $1.7 MILLION for every family of four in the nation!

There is one way — and ONLY one way — for Washington to avoid welching on its obligations: Pay them off with dollars that are a shadow of their former selves ...

SHOCKER: Including Washington's total debt and obligations ...
We now owe $133 TRILLION
... TEN TIMES MORE than Washington admits!
"Official" National Debt:	$12.8 trillion
Off-Budget Liabilities:	$108 trillion
U.S. Federal deficit:	$1.6 trillion
Owed to foreign Investors:	$3.5 trillion
New deficits through 2020:	$6 trillion
Health care reform:	$1 trillion
TOTAL:	$133 TRILLION
The ONLY way to avoid default is to repay these massive debts with dollars that are worth a fraction of their current value!

Greenbacks that buy half as much — or even less — than our dollars buy today!

That's the real reason why Ben Bernanke and his Federal Reserve are seizing on any excuse to create trillions of dollars out of thin air:

They're not just bailing out U.S. banks, brokers, insurers and auto companies anymore — in May, Bernanke announced he'll print UNLIMITED amounts of money to bail out the entire EUROPEAN UNION.

By creating those trillions of new dollars out of thin air, Bernanke is lighting the fuse on one of the greatest dollar disasters ever!

And it's also real reason why Timothy Geithner and the U.S. Treasury are demanding that China and other emerging nations boost the value of their currencies relative to the greenback:

Despite what Geithner claims, these moves can't even come close to making U.S. products competitive with those produced by Chinese workers who earn only a few pennies per hour.

But by forcing these countries to raise the value of their currencies, Geithner is intentionally causing a de facto DEvaluation of the U.S. dollar!

And now, the world's richest nations and institutions are joining this unprecedented war on the U.S. dollar.

They are FED UP with Washington's spending/borrowing/printing binge and they are demanding that the greenback be ABANDONED as the world's reserve currency.

Replacing the U.S. dollar as the world's reserve currency will clearly cause global demand for dollars to crater — right along with the greenback's value and buying power.

BOTTOM LINE: They say you should never "fight the Fed" — and they're right.

Anyone who buries his or her head in the sand at a time like this — fails to take steps now to shore up their defenses against this great dollar disaster is doing something even more dangerous ...

They're not only fighting the Fed, but also the U.S. Treasury, the White House and every major financial authority on the planet!

This is one crisis you can
NOT afford to ignore:

The fact is, I'd probably be urging you to protect yourself even if Washington wasn't pulling out all the stops to gut the dollar.

After all; According to Washington's official reports, the value and buying power of the U.S. dollar has plunged nearly 89% since 1950. The Labor Department itself says that a lifestyle that cost you $10,000 per year in 1950 would cost you nine times more today: A whopping $90,460!

What's more, Washington admits that the dollar has fallen 22% in value since 2000 alone: What cost you $100,000 ten years ago costs $126,602 today — more than $26,000 more.

These are the official numbers released by the U.S. government. The truth is far worse.

John Williams is the economist who's famous for tracking inflation the way the U.S. government used to back in the 1970s — before Washington started jury-rigging the numbers. And Williams documents that despite what Washington claims, the Consumer Price Index is now roaring higher at the rate of nearly 10% per year.

Even without Williams' rock-solid data, Washington's claim that inflation is nearly non-existent is laughable to anyone who buys gasoline or groceries or pays household bills today.

According to studies by industry groups, food prices have risen by 2.4% in a single month. In fact, in February, the National Inflation Association reported that rising food and gas prices accounted for 58% of the increase in retail sales!

Plus, in the last year alone, industry groups and the U.S. Department of Labor have reported that ...

- Copper prices are up 22% ...
- Coffee prices have risen 27% ...
- Corn prices have jumped 31% ...
- Wheat prices have soared 47%, and ...

This great inflationary crisis has barely begun

Look: When our own leaders intentionally shrink the buying power of our money, they are also shrinking your real income ... your real investment portfolio ... and your real retirement nest egg.

More than that: They are diminishing your life!

A sinking dollar sends your cost of living spiraling higher ... compromises your ability to help your kids and grandkids get a solid start in life ... threatens the quality of your life in retirement ... and even pushes millions into the humiliation of financial dependence on loved ones — or worse: Dependence on the government.

The good news is, you are NOT powerless in this situation. Far from it!

You have the power to shield your wealth from this treacherous assault on your financial security — but ONLY if you recognize it now and take the necessary steps to protect yourself.

Here are THREE STEPS you must take immediately to help preserve your wealth and protect your family from even greater financial harm!

STEP #1: Recognize the reality that in this environment CASH IS TRASH!

This is a no-brainer, really: Cash dollars are, quite simply, the worst store of wealth imaginable when the dollar is deliberately being gutted of its value.

Your #1 rule of thumb now should be ...

KEEP NO MORE THAN SIX MONTHS WORTH OF LIVING EXPENSES IN CASH!

The reason should be obvious: With the greatest economic powers on the planet doing everything they can think of to destroy the dollar's value and buying power, the last thing you want is to get caught holding significant quantities of rapidly-eroding U.S. dollars!

STEP #2: Avoid dollar-denominated Certificates of Deposit (CDs) and money market funds like the plague!

Used by millions of retirees and conservative investors ... and deemed "even safer" today due to the FDIC's higher $250,000 coverage ... CDs are just as dangerous as cash at a time like this.

"People who hold cash equivalents feel comfortable. They shouldn't.

"They have opted for a terrible long-term asset, one that pays virtually nothing and is certain to depreciate in value."

— WARREN BUFFET

The problems: Penalties for early withdrawals, paltry rates of return and shaky banks!

But the biggest danger of all is the U.S. dollar:

Let's suppose that you invest $100,000 in a one-year CD that's now paying 1.6% on your money.

And let's also suppose that the dollar falls just 10% in value over the next 12 months. (It's possible: Between March and December of 2009, the dollar plunged more than 16% in value relative to the other major world currencies. But to be conservative, we'll assume a smaller, 10% decline.)

While your one-year CD earned you 1.6%, your principle declined 10% in value. So did the interest you earned.

That's a net LOSS of 8.4%! Your account may say your principle and interest are worth $101,600 — in reality, they're now worth only $91,600!

Bottom line: The return is so miniscule that even a minor decline in the dollar's value turns them into guaranteed losers!

STEP #3: Get out of ALL bonds and bond funds immediately!

These are potentially even worse than cash for two reasons:

FIRST, your investment is denominated in dollars, and those dollars will likely lose much more purchasing power than the low yields can replace, and ...

SECOND, with mountains of debt crushing the U.S. and Europe, a massive, global bond market collapse has already begun in the weakest European countries and is likely to strike us here in the U.S. as well.

When this great bond market crash comes, you could easily lose 20% or even 30% of your money ON TOP OF your losses due to the plunging dollar.

Given these realities, it would be wise to avoid all types of debt — including Treasury bills, Treasury-only money funds and state, county and municipal bonds.

Ultimately, though, the best defense is a strong offense. So, after you've cleansed your portfolio of these "dollar sinkholes," it's time to begin USING this crisis to multiply your money ...

Washington's war on the dollar is ALREADY pushing these kinds of stocks up 151% ... 344% ... and even as much as 457% ... or more!

There's no question that every dollar you've ever worked for is now under direct attack.

The only question is, are YOU taking full advantage of this dynamite mega-trend to multiply YOUR money?

I sincerely hope so!

Because every once-in-a-while, piling up windfall profits can seem as easy as shooting fish in a barrel: When you're in the right place at the right time, money just seems to flow to you.

For many of us, this is one of those times: As investors all over the world continue to snap up the stock of companies that produce tangible wealth — wealth you can count on: Gold, silver, platinum, oil and other natural resources ...

The stocks of those companies are doubling ... quadrupling ... sextupling and more, multiplying investors' money up to 19 times over — even in THESE volatile markets!

Just since March of 2009, for instance, while the S&P 500 rose 54% ...

- Capital Gold roared 64% higher ...
- U.S. Gold Corp skyrocketed 132%, and ...
- Allied Nevada exploded 379% higher.

That 379% gain is enough to turn a $10,000 investment into $47,900 with a simple stock — no exotic investments, no leverage, no inordinate risk — *in just over one year!

And there's more ...

Gold stocks are NOT the only resource stocks that have been on a tear lately: The stock of companies that produce silver and platinum have been exploding, too!

In the same time period, for example ...

- ✓ Eastern Platinum soared 158% ...
- ✓ Fortuna Silver Mines jumped 242% ...
- ✓ Hecla Mining rose 284%, and ...
- ✓ Stillwater Mining skyrocketed 357% higher.

Think of it: A 357% gain would turn every $10,000 you invested into $45,700 — WITHOUT using leverage of any kind!

Plus, just about every other type of resource stock you can name has exploded higher as well:

- Fortune Brands — a building fixtures company — jumped 101% ...
- Anderson's Inc — a farming and fishing company — soared 224% ...
- Owens Corning — a construction materials company — skyrocketed 240%, and ...
- Ternium — a manufacturing and construction materials company — exploded 456% higher.

That 456% gain would turn every $10,000 you invested into a whopping $55,600!

And select energy stocks have shot for the moon as well:

- ✓ InterOil Corp skyrocketed 188% higher ...
- ✓ Newfield Exploration rose 164% ...
- ✓ Northern Oil and Gas soared 538%, and ...
- ✓ Brigham Exploration exploded by 1,317%!

If you had bought Brigham Exploration in March of last year, you would have multiplied your money more than 14 times over by May of 2010.

Don't expect this kind of result every month or even every year. But the 1,317% gain on this one resource stock would have turned every $10,000 you invested into $141,700 in just 17 months!

Altogether, the average gain on these 15 stocks was 325% — six times more than the average S&P 500 stock gained during the same period!

Naturally, it goes without saying that neither you nor I can go back and grab these profits. But please don't worry: We're going to have plenty MORE chances to make that kind of money — AND MORE — in 2010, 2011, 2012 and beyond.

Could this massive global mega-trend
— this explosive bull market in natural resource stocks — end any time soon?

My answer: Since these huge gains are largely driven by the Obama administration's campaign to gut the U.S. dollar of its value and buying power ...

The ONLY way this great bull market in natural resource stocks will end would be for Washington to suddenly reverse course.

So let me ask you: Can you imagine a scenario in which ...

- Washington's $133 trillion in debt and obligations magically vanishes?
- Or in which the Federal Reserve suddenly announces it is welching on its promise to print unlimited numbers of paper dollars to help save the European Union from failure?
- Or in which the Obama administration suddenly reverses course, insisting that China keep the value of the yuan right where it is?
- Or in which the G-7, International Monetary Fund, the United Nations plus China, France, India, Russia, Brazil and the oil exporting nations ALL suddenly change their minds and insist that the U.S. dollar remain the world's most dominant currency?

No? Me neither!

And neither can millions of investors all over the world — which is why they're already buying stocks of companies that produce inflation hedges — tangible assets — like crazy:

They want to own the investments most likely to explode in value when the slow, steady decline in the greenback suddenly becomes an all-out crash.

The next logical question then is:

How do you position yourself to profit from this massive mega-trend?

I recommend three general steps investors should take ...

STEP #1: For ultimate protection, and for future profit potential, I believe that everyone should have up to 25% of their liquid investment funds in gold and gold-related opportunities.

Naturally, each investor needs to take a look at his or her individual investment needs. There's no such thing as a one-size-fits-all portfolio. But whether you invest 10% or 25% in gold, I recommend your allocation be further subdivided into four equal units. Using a 25% allocation, here's how it would break down:

A. I'd put about 6.25% in bullion, in ingots or bullion coins such as the American Eagle or Canadian Maple Leaf. Given the storage hassles and costs, there's no need to put more than that in bullion.

B. I'd put another 6.25% into the SPDR Gold Trust ETF, symbol GLD, and ...

C. I'd put another 6.25% divided equally amongst my three favorite gold mutual funds ...

- Tocqueville Gold Fund (TGLDX)
- U.S. Global Investors World Precious Minerals Fund (UNWPX)
- U.S. Global Investors Gold and Precious Metals Fund (USERX)

Then ...

D. I'd put the remaining 6.25% divided equally into my top-rated gold mining shares ...

- Goldcorp Inc., (GG)
- Barrick Gold Corp., (ABX)
- Kinross Gold Corp, (KGC)
- Gammon Gold, (GRS)

Combined, these gold mining shares own the majority of the gold reserves in the world today, which is a great reason to own them.

STEP #2: Diversify beyond gold to the other metals that are benefitting from this environment — rising Asian demand coupled with a long-term bear market in the dollar.

I consider an assortment of my favorite Exchange Traded Funds here ...

- ETFS Physical Palladium Shares ETF (PALL)
- ETFS Physical Platinum Shares ETF (PPLT)
- ETFS Physical Silver Shares ETF (SIVR)
- PowerShares DB Base Metals Fund (DBB)

And ...

STEP #3: I would also consider the intelligent purchase of short- and long-term call options on metals companies, bearing in mind that options are not for everyone, and certainly not for ALL of your money.

They're volatile, speculative investments. But the purchase of options has two unique advantages: First, you can never lose a penny more than you invest. And second, you get virtually unlimited profit potential!

Lastly ...

STEP #4: Consider active guidance in the area of metals investing, and all natural resources.
